4. La Llar

The Llar (or fire place) is the spirit of a house. Because the name of this space tells us where the fire and warmth of a home are located, that family spirit that invites us to relax and feel at home. Located in the Altell (Plant A of the building) it is an original room in which to celebrate small events such as: anniversaries, private celebrations, artistic, cultural events, exhibitions, training workshops or any type of corporate action that requires of an intimate and original environment.

It is also perfect for cocktails and formal or informal meetings with your collaborators and clients. We could say that it is a small house within the Old Casa Buenavista. Inside the Llar we find El Cercle, a special reserved area for more intimate meetings. Its name is due to the round table, alluding to its shape and also in a circle as a small group of people who meet. The Cercle maintains the exclusive tone of the Llar, although it gives this space a touch of solemnity.
